

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An oil retaining bearing that supports a shaft of a motor is engaged in a pocket of a casing for the motor. A bearing holder comprises a boss and an outer brim welded on 5 the casing which surrounds the pocket, thereby preventing the oil retaining bearing from coming out of the pocket.